WELCOME TO RENSSELAER

Meet Rensselaer High School, proudly claimed by 430 students as their center of activity 180 days a year. Here students and teachers labor and laugh together. Here friendships are formed, ideas are born, and futures are plotted. Here, pain and pleasure alike go into the acquisition of the prized, though sometimes seemingly elusive, education. R. H. S. is a part of life to each student who walks its halls and to each teacher who guides its classes. Yet these people give it life by their efforts in completing courses, putting on plays, competing in sports, and planning and participating in activities. For the picture of our school in action, won't you join us in a tour of Rensselaer High School?

Snap, crackle, pop; but not a breakfast food

These are the familiar sights to all of us--the students congregating for a moment's talk, the sight of the boys setting up the movie equipment, and the industrious hum of a busy class. Then there is that tortured feeling when the delicious aroma of popping corn drifts through our classroom late on a Friday afternoon, making us forget how important it is that we pay attention to the teacher.

Take a Look Around

Who knows what we will create next!

Movies make life interesting.

We like a moment to visit.

On errands through the halls, we see a smiling receptionist directing our visitors who call at the school. The help we get from "cooperative" efforts at the study hall tables has boosted many a grade. Keeping an eye on the main bulletin board is a student's daily chore. These are the bits of routine we observe in our tour around the school.

The Starlighters

Join Our

Our 1955 Homecoming brought student activity to a peak. Booster Club committees organized and planned, and when the big day came, our downtown afternoon parade and pre-game showings were perfect. After the game with West Lafayette, we invaded the gym, which the Seniors had gaily decorated for the "Foot Ball." There we danced to the heavenly music of the Starlighters.

Homecoming Dance

Homecoming Festivities

The chain of floats in our Homecoming parade was a symbol of student ingenuity, but the Art Class's colorful demonstration of how to "Bomb Those Devils" won the prize. Backed by our marching band and surrounded by her attendants, Queen Nancy Smith was crowned with much ceremony and a big kiss. Homecoming was a wonderful day.

last-minute touches

Glamorous Chuck Tilton and Fred
Hamacher are enchanting

In the spring of our junior year, after weeks of preparation and a bad case of last-minute nerves, we presented the hilarious "Brother Goose." It told of Jim Swing's troubles in raising a family of little brothers and sisters, including tom-boy Linda Trammell, who cavorted gaily in a football helmet while flapper Gayla Michael and sales-woman Mary Joe Zeigler vied for Jim's affections. The rest of the cast also put in able performances, making our first theatrical attempt a real success.

COME TO

Nothing like a motor scooter when one attends a big dance

Jim is surrounded by admiring ladies

The mysterious happenings at "Fog Island" were the subject of our senior play. Spy master Jim Swing, aided by the evil Sue Kresler and Dick Sanders, attempted to force top-secret information from the Government man, Chuck Tilton, while all are trapped on the fog-bound island by the tide. The arrival of riotous sheriff Sam Foster and a group of lost girl vacationers foils their plans. Evil and intrigue are nicely tempered by the renewal of an old romance by Chuck and school ma'am Kate Reitz.

Final preparations for a production are always exciting

OUR PLAYS

Kate and Chuck register affection before fascinated on-lookers

Sue surprises the snoopers

The villains are held at gunpoint

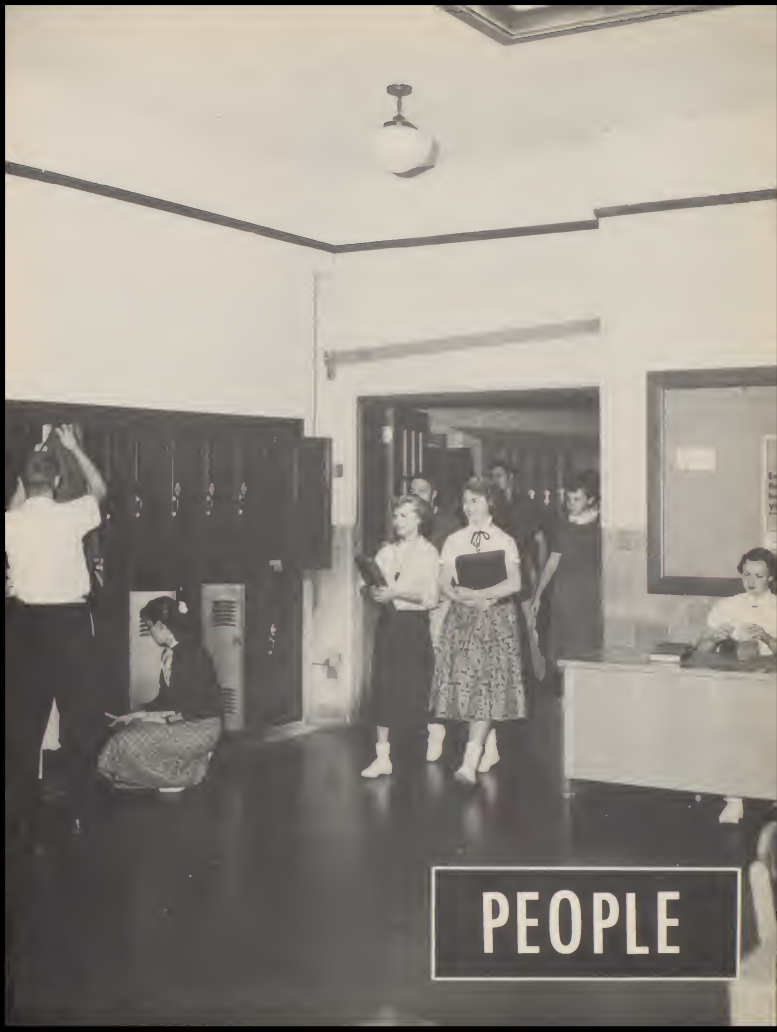

Our Christmas present to the community was the annual Christmas program, masterminded by Mr. Mau. Melody produced with the talents of band and chorus filled the gym, which was decorated with Christmas trees, giant candles, and a family of snowmen overlooking the scene. Soloists and special groups sparked the program, which was a merry start for the holiday season.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council records are familiar to all of us, though not everyone realizes that this organization supplies us with music--latest hits and old favorites--for most of the dances throughout the year.

All convocations presented at R. H. S. during the year are sponsored by the Student Council. These people also act as the students' representatives in settling school problems during the year. We appreciate the fine work done by this group.

For vocational agriculture students, the F. F. A. is designed to develop leadership and create a greater love for farming as an occupation. Each year a district officer from the R. H. S. chapter is sent to the State Leadership Training School. The F. F. A. program for this year included sending secretaries to the annual corn show, acting as host in the annual F. F. A. - F. H. A. party, and helping to sponsor adult farming classes.

THE TEAM PREPARES FOR BATTLE

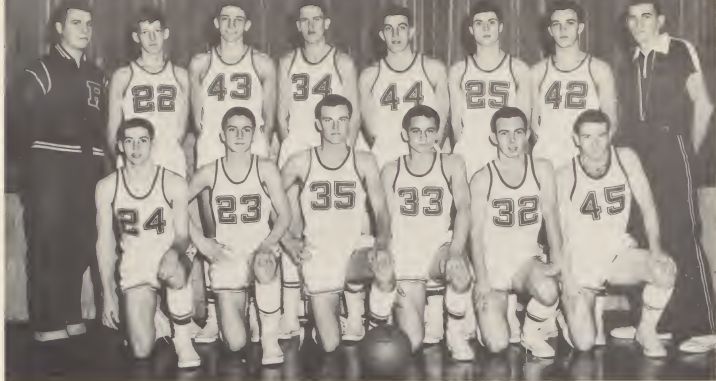

A team's success is not always measured by the number of games won or lost. The value of this season will become apparent as the years roll by. These boys, who tasted several defeats and still hung on fighting to get on top, will look on adversity as a challenge. They will apply this same spirit and willingness to their lives, which will undoubtedly mark them for success in their family life, their chosen field of endeavor, and their community relationships.

The students leave their cooperative work and go on to their individual interests, some to return to our school, some to go on, each to his own goal. R. H. S. has served its purpose in building its students intellectually, physically, and socially. Here we leave a phase of life we will always remember -- a project successfully completed.

We would like to express our thanks to Mr. Wayne Erickson, who has spent so much time and effort in giving us such fine photography. Much of the success of this book may be attributed to Mr. Erickson's intense interest in producing the best possible pictures for our 1956 CHAOS.

the 1990s, the number of people with a diagnosis of schizophrenia has increased in the United Kingdom (Meltzer 1998). The prevalence of schizophrenia in the United Kingdom is estimated to be 1.2% (Meltzer 1998).

There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the lives of people with mental health problems. The United Kingdom has a number of government departments and agencies that are responsible for the care of people with mental health problems. The Department of Health is responsible for the overall policy and strategy for the mental health services. The Department of Social Security is responsible for the provision of social security benefits to people with mental health problems. The Department of the Environment is responsible for the provision of housing and other services to people with mental health problems.

The National Health Service (NHS) is responsible for the provision of mental health services. The NHS is a public body that is funded by the government. The NHS is responsible for the provision of a wide range of mental health services, including community mental health teams, inpatient services, and crisis services. The NHS is also responsible for the provision of mental health services to people with learning disabilities.

The Mental Health Act 1983 is the primary legislation governing the provision of mental health services in the United Kingdom. The Act sets out the powers of the courts and the powers of the Secretary of State. The Act also sets out the powers of the Mental Health Review Board. The Mental Health Act 1983 is a complex piece of legislation that covers a wide range of issues, including the powers of the courts, the powers of the Secretary of State, and the powers of the Mental Health Review Board.
